Project: N22 Baile Bhuirne to Macroom Road Development
Subject: Substantial Completion of Roadworks on the Existing N22 at Coolcour Junction, Macroom

Public Notice

Update from the Contractor on the N22BBM project, Jons Civil Engineering-John Cradock JV:

The construction of the new junction at Coolcour has been ongoing since early Summer 2022 and has been a particularly challenging element of the Baile Bhuirne to Macroom Road Development project to deliver. The site of the junction and roundabout are relatively restricted and live traffic on the existing N22 had to be managed as it traversed the roundabout works site. In addition, there are a number of residences located at Coolcour which access the existing N22 within the works site.

Works on the new junction are now substantially complete with the installation of permanent road markings and road studs commencing today. Consequently, the Contractor will only have minor traffic management at this location once these works have been completed.

The Contractor would like to thank all parties who assisted us in the construction of the new junction at Coolcour, including the residents at Coolcour, An Garda Siochana, Cork County Council Area Engineer and his team, the Emergency Services, Utility Providers, local businesses and in particular all road users who have travelled through our site for the duration of the works. We greatly appreciate the support and co-operation we received from all these stakeholders, without which we could not have completed these junction works.

Yours faithfully,

Peter O'Donoghue: PRO, Jons Civil Engineering - John Cradock JV
